

Last Saturday, I went to an Alpaca farm called Camillo Valley, to see all kinds of alpacas, with my mom and my twin brother 'DeVante'. While at the farm we met my mom's friend Mrs. Mario, the owner of the farm, the owner's husband, and four other alpaca lovers. After everyone got there we headed to see the alpacas they were all beautiful, we were allowed to touch the alpacas. It was so unbelievable how they are when you touch them. While with the alpacas we were able to feed them from our hands, I did not worry about them biting me because they only have bottom teeth. We could have stood there all day and the alpacas could care less!

I had an amazing time, it was so fun and cool!

Written by: 'Chalante' Craig